Your committee beg leave to report as follows:
First—We find that the expense of equipping a cavalry company would be so great that we doubt if Sacramento would sustain more than one.
Second—We find that the Hussar company has an active membership of twenty-four members, and first-class equipments for fifty men, and that all gentlemen are eligible to membership regardless of nationality; therefore we recommend that twenty-five or thirty of the young men interested in the proposed cavalry company enlist in the Hussar company.

J. O. COLEMAN.
F. W. BIRDSALL,
THOS. HARPER.

The report of the committee was adopted. There was a general conference as to the proper course to pursue. It was authoritively stated that at least thirty-five of the best young men in Sacramento City were ready to join the Hussars.

A Committee of Arrangements and So icitations was appointed by the Chair, as ollows: John Lafferty, F. W. Birdsall and Captain Heilbron, of the Hussars, stated that his company, although small in numbers, was strong financially. An initiation fee of $2 50 is charged, and the monthly dues are $1. Fifty per cent. of the dues goes to the sick fund, and each member when sick is entitled to $5 per week. The company owns a cavalry outfit for about 75 men, and everything is in first-class order in their armory, which is the basement of the City Free Library building. The meeting adjourned to the call of the Then bring as many families as it will accommodate and let the Alameda Eacinal, spent a few days in them make it a garden spot.
